HCP Perception Survey: Jardiva in heart failure with reduced ejection fraction (US, 2023)

Report date: 2023-11-27

Executive Summary

This survey of 18 cardiologists across United States examined how clinicians perceive Jardiva (empagrazin) for heart failure with reduced ejection fraction. Fieldwork took place in March 2023.

Overall HCP sentiment index for Jardiva in United States: 0.70 (scale 0 to 1, assessed 2023). Respondents viewed the brand strongly positively.

Key Findings

Several respondents commented on the product overall.

Respondents in United States had mixed views on Jardiva.

Many cardiologists said they would like more information about Jardiva.

Synthetic document generated for the Watson prototype. All brand names and figures are fictional.